SUN BEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

In our efforts to point out the necessity of keeping the streets and alleys clean in Truckee, not only as a means of offering a better appearance to our town, but also in eliminating a grave fire hazard, we have been charged with "wasting printing". This may be too true, but if it is a waste of printing, we plan to continue this waste. It is not difficult to let the matter drop and continue to tolerate the situation. That would probably be the easiest way out of the situation, but no doubt if there is one single person in Truckee who would be contented if this method is followed. After all, we "waste" considerable "printing" each week and we can find no more popular subject on which to waste it. So if you are not interested in whether this health and fire menace and the unsightly condition is eliminated just skip this small "waste."

A dark shadow of doubt has been cast over recent bright prospects for outside support for Truckee's Winter Sports program. Sponsors have been advised quite frankly that little material assistance can be expected from the source once tentatively promised. That puts the local program right back on the spot where it was at this time last fall. It is a regrettable condition, but one which must be faced and decided upon soon. Do Truckee businessmen and others want to support the program again this winter single handed or do they want it to die a tragic death? It has been a tough job and a futile one to attempt to secure outside aid. It seems that unless we here in Truckee carry our own burden no one will.

The trustees of both the Meadow Lake Union High School district and the Truckee Grammar School this year are setting a splendid example in the trade at home project. Thus far everything that it has been possible to purchase locally has been handled through Truckee merchants. Even an insurance policy which had been carried through a mutual company, with no local agent, has been cancelled with the thought of placing this business through local firms. We hope this policy can be continued even though the cost on some minor items may be a trifle higher. After all its the taxpayers money being spent and if they are not entitled to a small return on profit, no one is.

CORONER'S JURY PROBES DEATH OF YOUNG LINEMAN

Youth Killed By Shock While Working On Summit Last Week

John LeMasters, 20-year-old Sacramento youth, came to his death as the result of electric shock received while engaged in his duties as lineman.

This, in substance, was the verdict submitted by a coroner's jury here last week in probing the death of the young employe of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, who was fatally shocked near Crystal Springs last Friday.

Witnesses, including a fellow workman, testified that LeMasters was decending from a pole with a loose telephone wire in his hand and as he reached the ground the wire contacted a charge line supplying power to nearby buildings. The current, according to Dr. C. B. Pedersen of Tahoe who administered treatment, passed through the youth's body from the hip to a brass rivet in his overalls. He died almost instantly.

Traffic Officers Gene Walker and C. E. McKeen, who gave artificial respiration, also testified.

LeMasters was working with his brother, who was foreman on the project. The young man had been employed with the company as a groundman according to company officials and was just learning to do line work.

Coroner Bob Jefford and Assistant Ben Tonini conducted the inquest.

LeMasters was a native of Sparks, Nevada, and is survived by his mother and father, both of Sacramento and the brother of Grass Valley. Burial was in Sacramento.

On the Coroner's jury were C. Edmunds, foreman; Frank Powell. A. Polyanich, O. S. Schumacher, G. E. Hofman, Chester Elliot, Walter Barrett, Robert Tonini, Frank Brummond.

CIO Organizing Highway Crews, Truckee Barmen

Claim Membership Of 96 Signed For Affiliation On Summit Job

No opposition is expected to arise from efforts of the Committee of Industrial Organization to organize workmen on the Donner Summit highway, a project contracted by Fredrickson and Westbrook of Lake County.

According to L. J. Gow, Sacramento to organizer, 96 of the 106 men employed on the project have signed up as members. They are seeking a 15 per cent increase in pay, union recognition and better camp conditions. The union is known as the United Highway Construction Workers Local No. 383. . . . . .

Wages asked range from 62½ cents an hour for general labor to $1.50 for shovel operators. The men ask for a 40-hour working week. Time and a half is asked for overtime work.

It was announced this week that efforts are also being made to organize the bartenders and waiters in Truckee. Members were being enlisted by a committee from the Boca Local. Meetings of the locals, both on the Donner and Boca jobs will be beld in Truckee once each week, Red Adams, one of the union leaders, announced.

HIGHWAY PATROLMAN INJURED IN CRASH

George Haines, highway patrolman of Placer county who has visited Truckee many times, received painful injuries last Thursday when his motorcycle skidded on a heavily oiled spot on the highway in the Bowman district.

A cut on the left side of the face, an injury to the right knee necessitating eight stitches and sprained wrists incapacititated Haines for patrol duties for several days.

175,000 Trout Start Life In Tanks At San Francisco Flycasting Club

One hundred and seventy-five thousand rainbow trout that will be freed in the Truckee river to provide amusement and recreation for hundreds of local visitors next year, are now waxing contentedly and growing at the rate of an inch every month in their sheltered ponds at the San Francisco Fly Casting Club's grounds east of Truckee. . . . . ..To the uninitiated visitor, the rearing of these fish offers an interesting spectacle.

Transplanted from the spawning grounds, or waters, at Tallac hatchery, the fish are placed in the huge cement tanks at the rearing grounds, with a capacity of 200,000 baby fish, where they are fed systematically by Edward Hommon, caretaker at the plant. The food is prepared carefully and consists principally of raw liver and cereal.

Fresh water flows continuously through the tanks, being piped under the surface of the Truckee river for a distance of 2800 feet, thus permitting ample gravity flow and assuring plenty of water at all times.

Each morning the tanks are drained to within a few inches of the bottom and the caretakers ply scrub brushes and clean the bottoms and sides until they are as clean as it is posible to make them.

Fatality among fish is comparitively low. A few "pin heads" and "runts" die, according to W. F. Bowers, president of the club, who personally supervises much of the feeding and tending of his "pets." The fish, with their present diet grow fast and the average is an inch every month. At the present time they measure less than three inches, but when they are turned into the river two months from now, they will be large enough to protect themselves.

The Fly Casting club, which is now 44 years old, has planted thousands of trout in the Truckee river and its tributaries. Cost of feeding and caring for the fish while in the tanks is shared by the business men of Truckee, who this year will contribute approximately $450 toward the project.

The cost of installation of the rearing ponds and water facilities alone cost more than $10,000, Bowers said.

The rearing tanks, sheds and other appointments are only a small part of the elaborate facilities at the club grounds. A huge comfortable club house, with its big lobby, dining room, bed rooms, kitchen, showers and lockers, presents a grand sight in its picturesque setting and it is easy to understand why members will drive from San Francisco, Los Angeles and other far away cities for a few hours visit at the club.

Forest Fires In This Region Are Fought This Week

Blaze Near Truckee Is Stopped By Fire Department Volunteers

A forest fire which, with little encouragement, could have swept into the town of Truckee, was extinguished after burning several acres west of the cemetery on the Hobart Mills road Monday morning.

The timely arrival of the Truckee Volunteer Fire Department apparatus and scores of willing local residents, including a dozen high school boys, brought the threatening blaze under control shortly after it was discovered.

Almost simultaneously with the starting of the fire here a second occured a mile west of Boca and local forest service crews were hard pressed for a time to divide their efforts and equipment between the two blazes. The fire at the latter place swept over a little more than an acre before it was controlled. Patrols were maintained over night at both locations to prevent a fresh outbreak. Forest Ranger H. I. Snider directed the fighting.

The big fire which came within a short distance of Portola and threatened Loyalton, was controlled early this week after burning over hundreds of acres. More than 500 CCC boys from all surrounding camps, including Rubicon and Reno, were summoned to fight the blaze, which was fanned by a strong wind Sunday and Monday.

LIONS ARE URGED TO ASSIST FIRE PREVENTION PLAN

Frank Gaiennie, chairman of the Lions safety committee, last night urged the clubsters to cooperate with the fire department in a fire prevention campaign to be conducted here. He advised the club that a communication had been received from highway officials to the effect that a white stripe would be painted on the local roads next spring.

Visitors last night were Norman DeBolt of the Arbuckle club and Rev. E. R. Everett, pastor of the local Community Church. C. Edmunds presided.

Firemen Plan To Reorganize At Next Session

Prevention Is Urged At Meet By Reno Assistant Fire Chief

The best time to stop a fire is before it starts.

This simple fact formed the basis for an interesting and instructive discussion by Assistant Fire Chief Twaddle of the Reno fire department, principal speaker at a meeting of the Truckee department in the Odd Fellows hall Monday evening.

Twaddle stressed the need for fire prevention as one of the most effective means of reducing fire insurance rates as well as avoiding the irreparable destruction of property. He cited as an example the fact that before fire departments started so-called "clean-up" campaigns some ten years go, fire losses in the United States were 50 per cent higher than today.

The speaker outlined several methods of fire prevention, placing particular emphasis upon the elimination of rubbish, inadequate wiring and defective flues.

The local department plans, at the next meeting, to reorganize, selecting a full corps of officers and appointment of a committee to start the campaign locally.

Other speakers at the meeting included Fire Chief N. F. Dolley, who presided; Fire Commissioner Frank Gaiennie, Forest Ranger H. I. Snider, A. P. Leitch, manager of the local telephone office, who supplied a Dutch feed for the firemen and their guests immediately following the meeting, Assistant Chief Tony Pace and Judge C. E. Smith.

Snider expressed the appreciation of his department for the assistance rendered by the firemen in combating the forest fire near Truckee Monday morning.

TRUCKEE SCHOOLS ARE OPENED HERE WITH RECORD ROLL

Mrs. Jennie Watkins has been engaged temporarily to relieve the unexpected congestion, while efforts are being made by the board to procure another teacher.

THIEVES SPEND BUSY NIGHT AS FIRMS ROBBED

Four Business Places Looted In Truckee; Officers Are Active

Thieves sometime Tuesday night made a wholesale cleanup in Truckee, entering at least three local places and robbing one parked car.

Deputy Sheriff N. F. Dolley who was called to investigate, said he had clues which might lead to the arrest of the offenders.

The Texaco station operated by Campbell Brothers on West Main street was entered and looted, but nothing of value was reported taken. Lawrence Zoebel of the Sierra Electric Company said nearly $100 worth of tools were stolen by thieves from his truck near the Riverside Hotel. The Standard Auto Service operated by Clair Goode was also broken into and several items taken. E. L. Loynd reported the theft of two blankets from his car, parked in front of the drug store.

At the Texaco station an iron bar was evidentaly used to jimmy the window, while the glass in a window at Goode's garage was smashed.

SCHOOL DAYS AGAIN

Carefree, skylarking vacation days are over. Youngsters here and elsewhere are trooping back to classes to wrestle with the mighty problems of penmanship and spelling and 'rithmetic.

The great schoolward migration is an old story, but a new story is that parents have some nuggets of wisdom unavailable a few years ago.

They are beginning to see that the terror of every kid's heart, the report card, isn't the sole test of his brains, ability and merit.

To the youngsters we say: "study well. Strive to do as best you can. Then you may find yourself doing better than anyone."

To the parents we say: "Don't be indifferent to your boy's or girl's day-by-day schoolwork. Don't ignore the help they may seek and then administer a stiff rebuke on report card day. More important questions than whether Alice or John get A's in history and English, are whether they possess the qualities that make for happier adulthood.

How do they get along with their classmates? Are they shy? Or too selfishly domineering? Do they make a greater hit with their teachers than with their associates? Observe how they get along with their friends. Your children's playfellows can give you a shrewder analysis of your children's character than most teachers, or the report card, ever will.

However, we can say almost positively it's a normal sign if the youngsters react to the first school week as if it were an ice-cold shower. But, boy! The water's fine, once they're used to it!

RELIEF FOR NEWSPAPERS

The Federal Relief Administration, if it wishes to be fair about this relief business—and dole out aid to all who are in need—should take steps to provide proper relief for the newspaper editors from relief propaganda. Not that we mind giving space to the relief problem when the material has actual bearing on the plight of the needy, or the equally sad plight of the taxpayer. But we do object to being asked to read and publish thousands of words about the personal excellence of every new straw boss who is placed in charge of a WPA sewing project ,a gutter alignment project or any of the ten thousand other alphabetical projects, each with its head man, its administrative assistant and its cabinet officers.

By actual count, according to a compilation by the Needles Nugget, the average newspaper receives from 30 to 50 releases per week, beginning as follows: "John Jacob Gozinkus, recently appointed head of the XYZ relief bureau because of his wide experience and successful work as assistant to the administrator of the PDQ project, said this morning: 'My social concept of the project at hand. . . .' " et cetera, et cetera, ad infinitum. If the relief administration can't provide newspapers with a government wastebasket least provide newspapers with a government wastebasket for relief of eulogisms. Editors need relief too.

Politically Speaking

By JACK WELTER
(United Press Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 26. —(UP)— With the 1938 campaign still a year in the offing, the woods are full of political sharpshooters, sounding out public sentiment and laying lines for the big push after the first of the year.

Most of the gossip, rumor and speculation is yet to nebulous to be granted firm credence. Three factors appear almost certain, however, and they are:

1.—The campaign, in its primary stages, at least, will be fought with southern California in the background.

2.—Although Governor Frank F. Merriam remains silent, Democratic battle lines are being drawn in the firm conviction that Merriam will be the gubernatorial standard bearer again.

3.—Most Democrats are convinced that they can beat Merriam.

Many regular party members are most concerned with keeping State Senator Culbert L. Olson, one-time Epic Democrat, 1937 legislative liberal and laborite, from winning the party nomination.

Additionally, if Olson wins at the primary, a repetition of the record-breaking Merriam-Sinclair ballot of 1934 appears assured, with the Bourbon party line ripped to fragments.

Importance of the southern California situation is recognized readily from the fact that a prominent Los Angeles Republican, former political writer and manager of Gov. Alfred Landon's presidental campaign in California, is touring the state in behalf of Supervisor Herbert C. Legg, Los Angeles Democrat.

Ase he explains it, conservative Democrats, in addition to Republicans, are mortally afraid of Olson's power in the ranks of the 200,000 relief recipients clustered in the southern area. Southern California, from Kern County southward, has some 65 per cent of the state's registered vote.

Considering the picture at a recent meeting, he said a group of conservative Democrats agreed they must find a man to beat Olson. J. F. T. O'Connor, former assistant U. S. Attorney Pierson M. Hall, Congressman John F. Dockweiler, Congressman Frank Buck and others mentioned as probable candidates were considered and discarded, he said, because they would not pull enough votes from Olson's support among relief recipients. They agreed on Legg on the theory that he would carry the blessing of conservatives and make heavy inroads in Olson's potential vote by virtue of his relief activities on the Los Angeles Board of Supervisors.

In the opinion of Legg's backers, Olson is the "sme kind of political theorist as Upton Sinclair, but more dangerous because of his benign appearance."

It also is important to remember that Olson has made politics his career, both in Utah and California. Sinclair was a virtual novice in the field of practical politics.

Friday the 13th brought bad news for many of the state's better known politicians and also for the citizenry of Oroville.

When, after nine years' waiting for completion of the $8,000,000 highway through Feather River Canyon, all hands gathered for a banquet celebration, waitresses and bartenders walked out on a strike. The management of the Oroville Inn, the strikers claimed, refused to sign a wage-hour agreement accepted by all other Oroville restaurants and bars.

Gov. Frank F. Merriam, Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly and scores of political jobholders were among those scheduled to attend the dinner a few hours after pickets took their places around the hostelry, a Fleishhacker property.

Officials of the celebration spared the governor and Kelly the embarassment of walking through the picket line by informing them the affair had been called off.

THREE LOSE LIVES ON LAKE TAHOE AS BOATS OVERTURNED

(By Swannee)

Native residents of the Tahoe Region were stunned and saddened on Sunday to learn that the lives of three men had been snuffed out in boat mishaps on the lake. We who live here year round consider it 'incomprehensible' that persons having reached the age of reason could have possibly been so foolhardy as to attempt to maneuver a frail row boat in rough, windswept waters such as have prevailed at Tahoe for the past week.

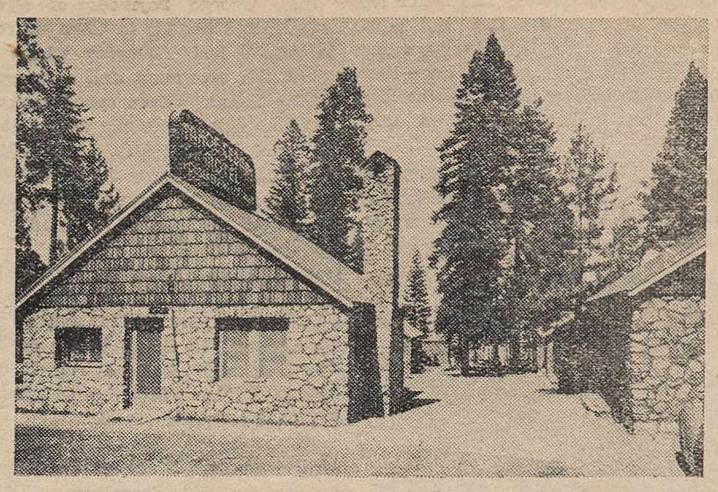
The first tragedy to be reported was that concerning three young University of Nevada students, Bill Yoe, Bill Beardsley, both of Elko Nevada, and Morgan Mills of Reno. About 4:30 P. M. the trio secured a boat from Bijou and started out for a pleasure ride, despite rough waters. Some time later Mills swam ashore to report that their boat had been capsized and he and his companions thrown out. Although Yoe and Beardsley were supposed to have been following Mills to shore they never arrived all were said to have been wearing life belts, which seemed to have been little use in the emergency. Fifty men were recruited and search was made of the water and shore line all night, but not until Monday morning around 10:30 were the bodies found. They were removed to Reno.

The boys had been guests of a private home near Bijou, their tragic end seeming so pitiful because a little forethought on their part would have made the tragedy impossible.

On Sunday night search was started for Frank Motonari, about 23, San Francisco Japanese boy employed at the Charles Ehrmans Pine Lodge estate on the west shores of Tahoe for the summer as laundryman. He is believed to have drowned when the light row boat in which he was fishing apparently capsized in the rough waters, Motonari was last seen by members of the household from their pier about 1:30 P. M. Sunday at which time he seemed to be having difficulties in managing the boat and steering toward shore. He suddenly turned about, however, starting for the opposite side of the lake. The spectators wondered at his strange action but little thought about it until he failed to appear for dinner. Search was started which brought to light on Monday morning the finding of the boat, containing one shoe and one oar at Skunk Harbor, across the lake. Although warned by his companions and employers that the lake was unsafe during such rough weather he chose to go anyway, which was regrettable to all concerned. As this goes to press on Tuesday no trace of the man has been discovered, save the empty boat, the general belief that he was drowned.

Near tragedy occured at Chamber's Lodge on Sunday when two other foolhardy boys attempted to sail a boat, which was none too safe in the first place, across Tahoe's surface. Although the owner or operator's name could not be learned, H. L. Bradley of Los Angeles a guest at the Lodge, paid dearly for his attempt to assist in salvaging the craft after she had capsized. Only the main sail was saved. He was treated by Dr. C. B. Pedersen of the Tavern for submersion, chills and fatigue. Dave Chambers declared that hereafter no boats would be permitted out in rough weather and strictest watch would be kept over all craft venturing far out into the lake.

NEW LAKE ESTABLISHMENT OPENS



Recently completed, the new Tahoe Cedars Motel, owned and operated by L. H. Strosneider has been opened as one of Lake Tahoe's newest resorts. it is located on the west shore of the lake near Pomin's.

AUBURN COUPLE IN LAKE CELEBRATION

TAHOE CITY, Aug. 26.— Mr. and Mrs. Art Sather of Auburn were visitors at Tahoe on Wednesday. They took the day off from their business to celebrate the 26th anniversary of their wedding. After visiting their friends at the various resorts, they were luncheon guests of the Charles Swansons, who later joined them at dinner on Prusso's Terrace Inn.

HOLLYWOOD ACTOR GUEST AT TAHOE

Tahoe City, August 26—Several Hollywood celebrities have been guests at Tahoe during the past weeks.

Occupying one of the Pomin's luxurious cottages in Tahoe Park, and dining at Prusso's Forest Inn, Raymond Walburn enjoyed a weeks quiet rest here. The premier showing of his latest picture "Thin Ice" in which he portrays the part of lovely Sonja Heinie's father, was shown last Friday night in Hollywood. He will probably be best remembered in "Broadway Bill" in which he plays the part of the Kentucky Colonel. On Sunday Mr. Walburn, Chris Neilsen and Sherwood Prusso went for a fishing excursion on the lake, young Prusso being the only successful member of the party snagging a fine 5 3|4 pound Lochleven trout.

HIGHWAY OFFICIAL IS LAKE VISITOR

TAHOE CITY, Aug. 26.—Kenneth Willis, superintendent of the Big Sur highway in Monterey county and a former Tahoe resident, spent several days of a two weeks' vacation renewing old acquaintences at Tahoe, Truckee and way points. He left on Monday for Oakland where he plans to remain with relatives.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 26.— (UP)— The state board of equalization sent to auditors in California's 58 counties a valuation roll of taxable utility property totaling $1,003,746,210 for inclusion in local tax rolls.

Of the total, Nevada county's tax roll will benefit from the tangible public utility property amounting to $7,949,150, the board announced.

Board members approved the roll after hearings on requests for reductions. Only one was allowed, however, that of $772,050 for the Southern California Edison company on the grounds that "certain specific properties had been over-assessed."

In the farm groups, the Grange and Farm Bureaus are holding special meetings. In addition, a special train from Los Angeles and one from Yreka, one carrying the 4-H Club girls and boys to the grounds and one bringing a caravan of Implement Dealers from the east, are scheduled.

Hub of California activity will be at the fair.

FISHING WATERS OF STATE BOUNTIFUL DURING PAST YEAR

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 26.— (UP)— Californa fishing waters proved to be bountiful in 1936, the annual report of the state fish and game commission disclosed.

Fresh fishery products totaling 1,247,987,132 pounds were landed. This figure does not include the sport catch, officials said.

Sardines, with a catch of 955,525,325 pounds, led the species of fish caught. Pacific Mackerel was second with a total of 100,541,897 pounds reported.

POLITICALLY SPEAKING

One hundred an dninety guests, however, including assembly and senate delegations, state, city and county officials, a Nevada delegation and other dignitaries, ate dinner and celebrated "unofficially". Ladies of the town served the meal while pickets and labor sympathizers clustered outside, lokking over the group which walked through their lines.

Some diners, thinking of the 1938 campaign, were plainly ill at ease, glancing outside and obviously wishing they were elsewhere. One laborite senator, on hand earlier, failed to respond to an introduction when his name was called. Not so one member of the assembly's official delgation designated during the 1937 legislative session.

"Maybe everybody else is here unofficially," he roared, "but I want to say that I am here officially representing my district and I don't give a damn whether CIO's outside vote for me or not."

Actually, it was the newly formed AFOL Culinary Workers and Bartenders' Union picketing the establishment.

AUTO FATALITIES IN FIRST DECLINE FOR OVER TWO YEARS

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 26.— (UP)— Fatalities resulting from automobile accidents showed a decrease in California for the first time in more than two years.

E. Raymond Cato, chief of the state highway patrol, cited highway death figures for July in support of this statement. Statewide figures showed 256 July deaths as compared with 277 in July, 1936.

Cato said warnings cautioning the motorists to hold their speed to 50 miles an hour, and an order to the "slow poke" drivers to keep their cars moving faster may have contributed to the reduction.

RAW FISH FOUND TO BE UNHEALTHFUL FOR DOG RATIONS

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 26.— (UP)— Keep your dog away from raw salmon or trout if you value the dog, warns the California Conservationist, monthly publication of the state department of natural resources.

The recently -discovered "salmon poison fluke" — a parasite that frequently finds its way into the tissues of salmon and trout— is fatal to dogs who consume the raw fish.

PASTOR SETS MILEAGE RECORD IN LONG TRIP

He drove from Los Angeles to Sacramento recently on seven gallons of gasoline in a foreign-made Fiat, presented him by the Italian manufacturer. His gasoline mileage approximated 60 miles to the gallon for the trip.
